CALLED TO THE BAR OF ONTARIO,
2010

EDUCATION

- J.D., University of Western Ontario, 2009
- B.A. (Honours), (Trinity College), University of Toronto, 2004

PRACTICE AREAS

- Commercial Litigation

Amelia is a staunch advocate who represents clients in wide-ranging corporate-commercial litigation matters. She has appeared before the Superior Court of Justice and the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Amelia brings valuable business acumen to her private practice. After her call to the bar in 2010, she became an entrepreneur and over the course of six years, she designed, developed, built and sold a bespoke service offering for busy professionals, primarily serving Toronto, New York and Los Angeles markets.

In law school, Amelia earned some of Western Law's most competitive placements, including the opportunity to complete her degree at the University of Hong Kong, Faculty of Law, and a prestigious position as a clerk at an international court where she assisted with the legal groundwork for CARICOM and its Single Market and Economy.

EXPERIENCE

- Reported decisions include Bodkin v. Doe, 2021 ONSC 1852 (granted 100% of costs on the matter) and MacRae v. Maple Gold Mines Ltd., 2019 ONSC 7598 (defended against summary judgment involving the interpretation of corporate stock option agreements)

- Successful application for an injunction against a search engine provider for the removal of search results that were the subject of pending defamation litigation
- Counsel before Ontario's Court of Appeal
