Family Law

As part of our industry-leading Private Client practice, Blaney McMurtry's Family Law group brings more that 90 years of collective experience to complex and high-stakes matters. They know the law, they know how to negotiate, and they know the right procedure to get your case done right, the first time. They are "diligent in preparation and confident in court", and when you add all that up: you can be sure they have all the tools needed to get your case to the finish line.

Our Family Lawyers provide advice and representation, whether by way of negotiation, court proceedings, alternative dispute resolution, in all matters arising from cohabitation, marriage, separation and divorce including:

- Separation Agreements
- Divorce Applications
- Custody and Access
- Child Support
- Spousal Support
- Division of Property
- Income Determinations
- Business Valuations
- Family Trusts
- Income Tax
- Marriage and Cohabitation Agreements
